

Aya Healthcare Establishes $10,000 Scholarship Program with the National Black Nurses Association

San Diego, CA: Aya Healthcare, the largest healthcare staffing company in the U.S., is proud to announce a $10,000 donation to the National Black Nurses Association (NBNA) for the creation of the Aya Healthcare Nurses of Tomorrow Scholarship. This scholarship program will assist five (5) NBNA-member nursing students pursuing a BSN degree or higher. Recipients will be selected annually, based on financial need as well as academic achievement. The deadline to apply is April 15, 2022.

Aya believes in directing resources to key areas which drive meaningful and lasting change. The 5 scholarships will support nursing students who pursue careers in stepdown/PCU, cath lab or CVICU. These specialties are in need of RNs to meet the constant demand for their services. Building a pipeline of nurses working in these areas could improve patient care nationwide.

“We believe education and equity are basic human rights,” said Amber Zeeb, VP of Employee Experience. “Through initiatives like the Aya Healthcare Nurses of Tomorrow Scholarship, we’re committed to expanding access to these necessities. Here’s to building a workplace — and a world — with equal educational access for all.”

“The National Black Nurses Association is most grateful to Aya Healthcare for its generous support of $10,000 to the NBNA Scholarship Program”, said Dr. Martha A. Dawson, NBNA President/CEO. “The scholarships will help some very deserving nursing students complete their nursing education and launch their nursing career. The financial support that Aya Healthcare is providing shows its deep commitment to improving the nursing workforce...and, ultimately the status of our nation’s residents.”

The Aya Healthcare Nurses of Tomorrow Scholarship program is open to all NBNA members. For details regarding the scholarship, visit <https://www.nbna.org/content.asp?contentid=82>.
